2. Next, we receive a report from each committee summarizing current projects, plans for the future, and go over general progress since the last meeting.

3. Proposals from members (up to 6 proposals, up to 10 minutes each).

4. Each voting matter is read out by a member of the central committee, and members will then be able to present support or opposition to said voting matter before a vote is called.

4a. Unless otherwise stated, a simple majority is required for a proposal to pass.

5. Time for guest speakers, films, presentations, other unique events, and non-organizational discussion will follow.
